Engine prototype has been running at the mid 200 hp level on pump gas on a very conservative and safe tune.

With excellent drivability and smooth power delivery.

That is the cost to build a high-end race car.

Everything we have developed through this racing program has been put into the Speed UTV at a significantly more affordable price due to mass production.

I placed my order today for accessories. I wanted to add the Rugged Pumpers to my El Jefe RG Edition, however I was informed that SPEED is only offering the Blue option. Why would Black not be an option for those of us that are getting the RG Edition. The Blue does not go with the RG Edition color scheme. Rugged does offer a all Black unit on their website.

Is Blue going to be the only option?
